Course Title: Financial Statement Analysis

OVERVIEW

- 1) Analysis and Decoding of Corporate Reports and Disclosures.
- 2) Risk Analysis.
- 3) Bankruptcy.
- 4) Special topics from Mergers and Acquisitions.

COURSE MATERIALS

- Textbook(s): Financial Reporting and Statement Analysis, by Wahlen, Baginski, and Bradshaw (9th edition).

The text will only serve as a guide. My lectures are the most important part of the learning experience. Supplementary cases, notes and other handouts to supplement will be given during the class or posted on the canvas. You will also be assigned a group project so that you can learn to apply the techniques that we learn in class.

- Check Canvas (canvas.rutgers.edu) and your official Rutgers email account regularly.

LEARNING GOALS AND OBJECTIVES

The EMBA/MBA program offers students good exposure to a wide variety of business subjects. Each class is taught by experts in the area, and the students learn the subject in great depth. However, given my own experiences in different business schools, I always found that the MBA curriculum lacked the one class which will bring together knowledge from diverse areas such as accounting, economics, finance, production and marketing to analyze and solve business problems. I have noticed that while students understood the different subjects/topics pretty well in isolation, they often could not see how they were connected, or how to integrate knowledge from different areas to analyze and solve business problems. Therefore, I decided to offer just such a class. This course has been developed and refined over the years partly based on the feedback and comments that I have received from the students in the EMBA and IEMBA program, from the regular MBA, and the part time MBA students here in the United States, and executives from overseas as well.

During class, I will be providing you with practical tools and techniques that will enable you to understand and analyze the performance of any business corporations anywhere in the world – whether they are in manufacturing, retailing or services. This knowledge should serve you well as you rise up the corporate ladder, start your own business, help you if you are running one, or even for your own investments (remember, even if you do not actively invest in businesses, your pension plans and retirement funds probably are invested in the different firms!).

You will be examining corporate reports from many different firms and learn how to analyze and evaluate the performance of the corporation. You will learn to focus on important information and separate hype from facts. You will be exposed to both good and bad corporations, so that you can learn to recognize the “good” from the “bad”. We will try to understand the different corporate games that are commonly played. You will also be given tools and techniques to gauge the “riskiness” of a firm, and if a corporation can remain solvent in the future. Finally, you will be introduced to the important topic of structuring mergers and acquisitions (including the role of taxes).

The course is a mixture of qualitative and quantitative techniques that have already been taught in the other classes. I expect you are comfortable with the core MBA material (accounting, finance, economics and marketing). I would also expect that you are keeping up with the latest business news and developments. Other than that, the only expectation would be that you are prepared to work to learn skills and tools that are highly valued (and well paid!!) in the United States and the world over.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

I do NOT tolerate cheating. Students are responsible for understanding the RU Academic Integrity Policy (<http://academicintegrity.rutgers.edu/>)

I will strongly enforce this Policy and pursue all violations. On all examinations and assignments, students must sign the RU Honor Pledge, which states, “On my honor, I have neither received nor given any unauthorized assistance on this examination or assignment.” I will screen all written assignments through SafeAssign or Turnitin, plagiarism detection services that compare the work against a large database of past work. Don’t let cheating destroy your hard-earned opportunity to learn. See business.rutgers.edu/ai for more details.

ATTENDANCE AND PREPARATION POLICY

-Barring unforeseen circumstances, I expect to be teaching all scheduled class sessions. Similarly, barring unforeseen circumstances or religious observances, I expect all my students to attend every class session. If I am to be absent, the EMBA office, or I will send you notice via email and Canvas as far in advance as possible. If you are to be absent, report your absence in advance at <https://sims.rutgers.edu/ssra/>. If your absence is due to religious observance, a Rutgers-approved activity, illness, or family emergency/death and you seek makeup work, also send an email with full details and supporting documentation [within 10 days of your first absence

- For weather emergencies, consult the campus home page. If the campus is open, class will be held.

- I expect to arrive on time for each class and I expect the same of you. I expect my class sessions and lectures to take up all the allotted time, and I would expect you to attend the full session in every class. I expect you will have a valid reason if you come in late or have to leave a class early, I expect you will come fully prepared for classes and expect you to participate fully.
