COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course focuses on ethical dilemmas in business ethics. The content of the course is multidisciplinary and includes perspectives from economics, law, applied ethics and management. The course will begin with an overview of foundational concepts such as rights, justice, utilitarianism, stakeholder management and social contract theory as well as a review of relevant psychological and sociological influences in decision- and policy-making. These concepts will be applied to business cases that depict dilemmas faced by business people working in various business roles and industries. The course ends with an extension of core concepts to the international marketplace where issues surrounding government and society grow more complex.

COURSE MATERIALS

We will be using the following textbook in class. Readings and assignments will be provided in class or from the textbook:

- PowerPoint slides and announcements will be posted to the RBS canvas website, https://canvas.rutgers.edu

LEARNING GOALS AND OBJECTIVES

Ethical judgment learning goal. Rutgers Business School students must demonstrate reasoned and ethical judgment when analyzing problems and making decisions. Through case analyses, course debates, written assignments and a final presentation, students in this class will develop their ability to: (1) critically evaluate unstructured business decision-making scenarios and develop innovative and ethical solutions, and (2) recognize ethical dilemmas in unstructured business decision-making scenarios. Global perspective learning goal. Many of the business cases analyzed in this class address the current global economic, legal, political, and social structures. Through analysis of these cases, students develop an understanding of the impact of cultural and demographic diversity on business interactions. Effective Communication learning goal. Through in-class debates, written assignments and a final presentation, students in this course develop their ability to construct and deliver clear, concise, and convincing oral and written communication.
PREREQUISITES

Before taking this course, students must take English Composition I & II, Introduction to Economics (Micro & Macro), Statistics, Financial Accounting, Managerial Accounting and Basic Calculus.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

I do NOT tolerate cheating. Students are responsible for understanding the RU Academic Integrity Policy (http://academicintegrity.rutgers.edu/).

I will strongly enforce this Policy and pursue all violations. On all examinations and assignments, students must sign the RU Honor Pledge, which states, “On my honor, I have neither received nor given any unauthorized assistance on this examination or assignment.” I will screen all written assignments through SafeAssign or Turnitin, plagiarism detection services that compare the work against a large database of past work. Don’t let cheating destroy your hard-earned opportunity to learn. See business.rutgers.edu/ai for more details.

ATTENDANCE AND PREPARATION POLICY

Expect me to attend all class sessions. I expect the same of you. If I am to be absent, my department chair or I will send you notice via email and Canvas as far in advance as possible.

If you are to be absent, report your absence in advance at https://sims.rutgers.edu/ssra/.

If your absence is due to religious observance, a Rutgers-approved activity, illness, or family emergency/death and you seek makeup work, also send me an email with full details and supporting documentation.

GRADING POLICY

Course grades are determined as follows:
Student grades reflect performance in class, writing ability, and test scores. Grade cutoffs are A (89.5), B+ (86.5), B (79.5), C+ (76.5), C (69.5), D (64.5) and F (below 64.5). The breakdown of grades is as follows:
30% QUIZZES
40% FINAL PROJECT (paper and presentation)
20% WEEKLY REFLECTIONS
10% PARTICIPATION

30% FINAL GRADE

30% 2 QUIZZES
Quizzes will be administered in class. All quizzes are closed book. Questions will reflect a combination of formats including true/false, multiple-choice and short-answer questions. They may include questions on material assigned for that day but not yet discussed in class. Make-up quizzes will only be administered under exceptional circumstances as outlined in Rutgers policies. Make-up quizzes could be in a different format. Students are responsible for notifying the instructor by email before class that they will be missing class (and potentially a quiz).

40% FINAL PROJECT

For your final project, you will write a final paper on a topic related to the course content and present your analysis to the class. Final project will be assigned to you later in the semester. Your grade will be based upon the thoughtfulness and rigor of your analysis. The paper should be 5-7 pages of text, double-spaced, in 12-point font. You must follow Rutgers University academic guidelines for citing other authors. Project grades will be based on your presentation and the paper. The assignment is due at the beginning of the class. Assignments submitted after the beginning of class are penalized 10 points. I continue to deduct 10 points for every day that the paper is late. I do not accept assignments that are more than 1 week late. If you know you are going to be late or miss a class, you must submit your assignment before class.

20% WEEKLY 1-PAGE REFLECTION PAPER SUBMISSIONS

Every week, we will discuss different chapters from the book. As preparation for each week’s class, starting from the second week (due to the Changes in designation of class days), before coming to the class (on Monday mornings), you will submit a 1-page reflection based on the assigned chapter and case for that week to Canvas. Reflections should include your answers to the questions that are asked to you after each case (called “Questions for Discussion”) based on your understanding of the readings of that week unless another direction is provided. A total of 10-11 reflection submissions is required for the semester. Written reflection assignments will also help you with your class discussions.

10% PARTICIPATION

Participation is expected and required in this class. Since participating requires being present, you are required to attend to class on time and stay until class is over. Your involvement in the class exercises and discussion for that day determines your involvement. Good participation involves good listening but listening alone does not constitute participation. Participation involves intelligently contributing to class discussions by speaking. At the end of the semester, I will adjust your final grade to reflect outstanding participation as well as poor or disruptive participation. Missing classes will affect my assessment of your participation. Students are responsible for notifying the instructor by email before class that they will be missing a class.

Your active class participation is critical for producing a rich learning environment. The evaluation of participation includes a variety of factors such as:

- Attendance: Everyone is expected to be on time and attend all classes.
- Reading the assigned material: The amount of reading for this course is significant. All students are required to read all the material for each day.
- Class discussions: All students are expected to actively and constructively engage in class deliberations and group activities (including those discussions led by other students)

- Courtesy: All students are expected to be respectful and courteous to other class members.

- Class participation will be graded as follows:
TECHNOLOGY POLICY FOR IN-PERSON CLASSES

Laptops must be closed unless expressly required in the class for class discussion purposes or unless there is a change in the class structure. By not devoting your full attention to the class, you are disrupting your learning and the learning of the students around you.

Phones and wireless devices are turned off. Everyone has heard a phone ringing or vibrating in class, and it is incredibly distracting. If you have a true need to communicate with someone outside of class, please let me know ahead of time. Persistent use of technology in class will result in a decreased class participation score.

CLASS PROCEDURES

- If you need to contact me outside of class, send an email. This is the best way to reach me.
- No laptops or cellphones are allowed to be used during class.
- The Canvas website will be used to distribute course-related information. Each student is responsible for checking the canvas website (https://canvas.rutgers.edu) regularly for notices regarding class cancellations, articles to be read before class, and other course-related materials and announcements.
- If you have a condition that requires special attention during exams, please reach me during office hours so special arrangements can be made. You are responsible for letting me know within the first 2 weeks of class.
• Your comments in class need to reflect respect for the differences within the academic community. There shall be no comments that are considered offensive to one’s race, ethnicity, gender, religion or sexual preference.

• Copyright policies. Any posting or recording of class materials (whether created by me or by third parties) will be considered an infringement of copyright protection as well as a violation of the Rutgers academic and personal integrity policies.

COURSE SCHEDULE

The reading assignments are tentative. I may adjust assignments to discuss current events or allow for lengthier discussions of specific topics. Adjustments will be noted on the Canvas website, so it is important to check it before each class.
